He evidently did not want his speech to be quoted against him two years hence. The Revenue Returns, no doubt, are "not unsatisfactory," the Clearing House Returns are "decidedly hopeful," and railway traffice, especially in the south, are "improving." One article, wool, has risen in price most markedly; one metal, copper, has risen a little; and in several trades, especially the Mincing Lane group, there is a fidgetty watchfulness, as if buyers without stocks were afraid of being caught by a grand rise. All that is satisfactory, and may mean, if the rise continues, that a cycle of prosperity is at hand but it does not as yet amount to very much Some little trades, and one big one, are prospering; but the prospects of some great industries, such as agriculture and shipowning, were never worse, the prespects of others, such as ironfounding and mining for tin and lead, are hardly that after the conviction a constable came to him | clearer than they have been for years, while the prices of solid securities on the Stock Exchange keep up in a way which always indicates that sary for him to call any evidence, as the plain. trade is not rapidly absorbing capital. HIGHLANDERS. MADRAS, 15th November. At the Allahabad Sessions on Wednesday Nov. 10th, Lieut Lund was indicted on charges of obtaining money from the Delhi and London Bank by false representations. The counsel for the prosecution intimated that he should not offer evidence, as he was satisfied from a perusal of the depositions that he would not be able to obtain a conviction. The Judge concurred and said that if counsel had not withdrawn, he should have stopped the case. It was stated that prisoner's relatives had made good the money due to the Bank. The jury consequently returned a verdict of " not guilty." The accused was liberated, but immediately arrested by the Military authorities. H will shortly be tried by court-martial.

In an article on the tithe difficulty in Wales. in the October number of the Congregationalist, the following story is told as "extremely significant of the tendency of popular opinion in Wales." The writer says :- A few days ago we had a conversation on a railway platform with a Welsh farmer, which was extremely suggestive. "I know a farmer's wife over the hill there." said my friend, "and the parson came to collect tithe. She said to him, "Parson, I have eleven children; will you take one of them? You take the tenth pig; will you have the tenth child?" The argument seemed to the farmer quite convincing, and the story seemed to be very keenly appreciated by a number of bystanders.

I learn (says a prespondent) that the British artist is in a sad plight. All the world knows that no pictures, or very few, were sold at the Academy this year. Nor is this the worst of it. The recent outcry against English art and against the Royal Academy has frightened away buyers, both English and American. The latter, too, were becoming handsome patrons of our art schools. To out a long story short, pictures are not selling. Customers cannot be found, even though half the usual price only is asked, and dealers and pawn-brokers have had their fingers burnt. They find that they cannot get back anything like the amounts advanced upon the works of well-known men. Studies, both in town and country, are coming into the market, and artists are coming into the court of bankruptcy.

There should never be bad trade or anything of the nature of an industrial crisis in Russia, For there the Government, manages things for manufacturers so thoroughly that everything should go well. vention of major importance has ever been made without the credit of its origin being claimed by more than one person. There was a hot dispute over the Leyden jar, and a controversy as acrimonious as it was protracted about the galvanic battery. Franklin's discovery of the identity of lightning and electricity is still claimed for French philosophers. The title of "Father of the Telegraph" is given to Wheatstone in Brjtain and to Morse in the United States, although we have the authority of Sir David Brewster for regarding Charles Morison, a native of James Watt's town of Greenook, as the inventor of the electric telegraph—" everything done since," says Sir David, "being only improvement." To this we may add that Joseph Henry, of Princeton, is put forward by some of our American friends as the man to whom, in this matter of the telegraph, the lasting gratitude of the world belongs as its first agitator. In like manner, four individuals, of whom Henry, of .Princeton, is one, have been named as each the "first and only" Said an exasperated Texas father at the din- original inventor of the electro-motor: while ner table—"You children turn up your noses at live men are each credited with the invention of everything on the table. POST-OFFICE NOTICES

When Correspondence has been mis-sent or the terms and conditions of the Company's delayed (both of which are liable to happen occasionally) all that the addresses need do is to note on the cover, Sent to --- , or Received at 7 p.m., or as the case may be, and forward it, without any other writing whatever, to the Postmaster-General. This should be acted on the first time cause of complaint occurs : it is a mistake to let such matters pass for fear of giving trouble, a course which generally given more trouble in the end.

LOCAL DELIVERY-No delivery is attempted on board Ship, at the Peak, Kowloon, Aberdeen, LAND RAILWAYS, AND TOUCHING AT &c., nor at any private house (even though named in the address) when there is a place of business nearer, at which delivery can be effected. The Postal Guide for 1886, revised to date Francisco, via Yokohama, on SATURDAY, will be found in the Daily Press Directory, the 11th December, at THREE P.M., taking p. 385 large edition, p. 701 small edition.
